

Pre-Conference Bible Study

Rooted in Christ, Bearing Lasting Fruit

John 15:5 – "I am the vine; you are the branches. He who abides in Me, and I in him, bears much fruit; for without Me you can do nothing."

John 15:8 – "By this My Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit; so you will be My disciples."

STUDY PERIOD

Thursday, July 9 – Thursday, August 6, 2026

25 days · Study Mon–Sat · Rest on Sundays · Conference opens August 10

A Letter to You

This Bible study is your personal preparation for the conference. It was built from the very questions and themes you will encounter when you arrive — so that when you sit around those tables and the conversation begins, nothing will feel brand new. It will feel like the natural next step of something God has already been doing in you, quietly, over these weeks.

Each day asks for 10–15 minutes of honest, unhurried time with God. Not performance. Not perfection. Just presence.

How to Use This Study

- Monday to Saturday: One study day — a scripture passage to read, a short reflection, and questions to write your honest answers to.
- Sunday: A day of rest and worship. Re-read whatever moved you most that week. Pray. Let it settle.
- Keep a journal: Write your answers. You are not being graded — you are being prepared. Honesty is more important than the right answer.
- If you miss a day: Simply continue from where you left off. What matters is the journey, not the pace.
- August 7–9: No new content. These three days before the conference are for prayer, review, and quiet anticipation.

A Simple Daily Rhythm

STILL YOURSELF

Take 2 minutes of silence before you begin. Ask God to speak to you today.

READ SLOWLY

Read the scripture passage twice. Let one word or phrase stand out to you.

REFLECT HONESTLY

Read the day's reflection. Let it connect to your actual life, not an ideal version of it.

WRITE & PRAY

Answer the questions in writing, then turn your answers into a short, honest prayer.

UNIT ONE · DAYS 1–7

I What Lies Beneath?

Roots · Identity · Hidden Wounds · From Survival to Abiding

DATES Thursday, July 9 – Thursday, July 16

Sun July 12 = Rest

Proverbs 4:23 — "Above all else, guard your heart, for everything you do flows from it."

Thursday, July 9

The Root Determines the Fruit

Read: Proverbs 4:20–27 · Jeremiah 17:5–8

Two trees can look identical on the outside while having completely different root systems. What is hidden underground determines what appears above. This study begins where real change always begins — not at the surface of our behaviour, but beneath it. What drives us matters far more than what we produce.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What most often drives my decisions — a desire to be loved, a fear of failure, a need for approval, genuine love for God? Be specific and honest.
2. What fear do I quietly carry, even in seasons when life looks fine on the outside?
3. What am I trying to prove — and to whom?

Friday, July 10

False Sources of Identity

Read: Ephesians 1:3–8 · Isaiah 43:1–4

Many of us have quietly built our sense of worth on things that can shift or disappear overnight — a relationship, a title, a role, a child's success, someone's approval. When those things shake, we shake with them. God does not define us by any of these. He defined us before any of them existed.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What criticism or disappointment hits me most deeply? What does that reveal about where I am drawing my worth from?
2. If everything I was known for disappeared tomorrow — my role, my achievements, my relationships — who would I be?

COMPLETE HONESTLY — BRING THIS TO THE CONFERENCE

"I often feel valuable when _____."

"I feel like a failure when _____."

"What I fear losing most is _____."

Saturday, July 11

Hidden Wounds That Still Speak

Read: Psalm 147:1–6 · Isaiah 61:1–3

Old wounds do not disappear simply because we do not speak of them. Rejection, abandonment, betrayal, shame — these quietly shape how we see ourselves, how we relate to others, and how much we trust God. Today we name them honestly — not to live there, but because healing begins with honesty.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What wound — rejection, loss, betrayal, family pain, disappointment with God — still quietly influences how I relate to people or how freely I trust?
2. What does that wound tend to make me do — withdraw, perform, control, please?
3. Have I ever brought this wound honestly to God — or have I buried it and kept going?

SUNDAY REST

Sunday, July 12

No new content today. Re-read your journal from Days 1–3. Which question stayed with you the longest? Bring it to God in prayer. Rest, worship, let it settle.

Monday, July 13

The Lies We Have Believed

Read: Romans 8:14–17 · 2 Corinthians 10:4–5

Every wound tends to leave behind a conclusion — a lie that feels like truth because pain taught it to us. "I am too much." "I am not enough." "God forgot me." "I have to earn my place." These conclusions live in us quietly, shaping everything. But God's word is not passive in the face of them. Today we practice naming the lie, and replacing it with what God actually says.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What is one lie you have believed about yourself — perhaps for a very long time — that you are now ready to name?
2. What does God say instead? Look up one verse and write it out in full.
3. What step of surrender might God be gently inviting you to take?

Tuesday, July 14

From Survival to Abiding

Read: Matthew 11:28–30 · John 15:1–5

Many of us are living in survival mode — performing, managing, people-pleasing, holding it all together. Jesus does not invite us to try harder. He invites us to remain in Him. Abiding is not a spiritual achievement or a reward for the disciplined. It is a daily posture of trust — available to every woman, in every season.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Honestly — is my relationship with God right now event-driven, emergency-driven, or relationship-driven? What does that look like in practice?
2. What mode am I most often living in — performance, crisis, people-pleasing, perfectionism? What would it take to move into rest?

Wednesday, July 15

Waiting on God Without Growing Bitter

Read: Psalm 27:13–14 · Lamentations 3:22–26

One of the most common but rarely discussed sources of spiritual pain is unanswered prayer. When we pray and nothing changes — for months, for years — trust quietly erodes. We may keep the language of faith on the outside while something very different is happening underneath. Today we sit honestly with that tension.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Is there a prayer you have been carrying for a long time with no visible answer? How has the waiting shaped you — for better or for worse?
2. What has the waiting taught you about the character of God — even if what it taught was hard?

Thursday, July 16

Unit 1 Review — What Has God Been Saying?

Read: Psalm 139:1–6, 23–24

Before moving into the next unit, pause and look back. God rarely speaks in a single moment — He builds on what He has already said. Today is a day to gather what this first unit has stirred, named, or begun to shift in you. Come to the conference with that already in hand.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Looking back at Days 1–6: what is the one question God has been asking you most persistently?
2. What wound, lie, or fear has surfaced this week that you want to bring before God?
3. Write a short prayer — just 3–4 sentences — that gives God access to that specific thing.

2 The Life of the Vine

Abiding · Burnout · Rhythms · Community · Fruitfulness by Season

DATES Friday, July 17 – Friday, July 24

Sun July 19 = Rest

John 15:4 – "Remain in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit by itself unless it remains in the vine, neither can you, unless you remain in Me."

DAY 8

~12 min

Friday, July 17

Visiting the Vine vs. Living in the Vine

Read: John 15:1-11 · Psalm 1:1-3

There is a difference between visiting God and living with Him. Many of us turn to God mainly when something goes wrong — in crisis, in panic, in need. Jesus uses the word "remain" — a word of continuous, unhurried connection, not occasional visits. A phone works fine after being unplugged for a while, but eventually the power runs out. Where are you drawing your daily power from?

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Honestly: is my relationship with God event-driven, emergency-driven, or relationship-driven? What does a typical week reveal about this?
2. When was the last time I came to God with nothing to ask — simply to be with Him?

Saturday, July 18

When Burnout Signals Disconnection

Read: Matthew 11:28–30 · 1 Kings 19:1–9

Elijah called fire down from heaven — then collapsed under a tree and asked to die. Burnout does not discriminate between the spiritually strong and the weak. It is often not a sign of failure but a signal that we have been carrying what was never ours to carry alone. Notice how God responded to Elijah: not with correction, but with bread, water, and rest.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What is currently draining me most? Name it specifically — a relationship, a responsibility, unresolved conflict, a habit, a fear?
2. Am I showing any signs of spiritual burnout — irritability, loss of joy in prayer, going through the motions, serving without any inner life behind it?

SUNDAY REST

Sunday, July 19

Rest and worship. Re-read your notes from Days 8–9. What has God been saying about your patterns of connection with Him? Let today be genuinely unhurried.

Monday, July 20

What Drains Me, What Gives Me Life

Read: Galatians 5:16–25 · Luke 10:38–42

Mary chose to sit at Jesus' feet while Martha spun in anxious activity. Jesus did not say Martha's work was wrong — He said she was distracted from the one thing that mattered most. Walking in the Spirit is less about what we do and more about where we are drawing from. What fills you? What empties you? This exercise matters — you will use it at the conference.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Draw two columns in your journal: What drains me and What gives me life. Fill each with specific, honest entries — not what should be there, but what actually is.
2. Looking at what you have written: what one shift, even a small one, could change the balance?

Tuesday, July 21

Creating Rhythms That Sustain You

Read: Psalm 1:1–3 · Mark 1:35–38

Even Jesus withdrew before dawn to pray — before the crowds arrived, before the demands began. He did not wait for a convenient moment. Lasting fruit does not come from occasional intense encounters with God. It grows from steady, simple, repeated rhythms of connection. Today we think practically — not ideally — about what that could look like in your real, busy, everyday life.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What one rhythm do you already have — even a small, imperfect one — that connects you to God? Name it.
2. What would it look like to add one new practice this month — without adding guilt or pressure to your life?

DRAFT YOUR SIMPLE PLAN — BRING IT TO THE CONFERENCE

Daily: I will _____.

Weekly: I will _____.

Wednesday, July 22

Fruit Grows in Community — Not Alone

Read: Hebrews 10:24–25 · Ecclesiastes 4:9–12

A branch isolated from the rest of the vine may survive for a time, but it cannot truly flourish or bear fruit alone. Many women pursue spiritual growth very privately — reading alone, praying alone, struggling alone — and quietly disconnect from the community that is part of how God grows us. Fruitfulness was never designed to be solitary.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Where have you tried to grow spiritually alone, instead of in community? What has that cost you?
2. Who has been like soil for your growth in the past year — someone who nourished you, challenged you, or simply stayed close? Have you told them?
3. Whose growth are you currently soil for?

Thursday, July 23

Fruitfulness Across Every Season of Life

Read: Ecclesiastes 3:1–8 · Philippians 4:11–13

Fruitfulness does not look the same in every season. A young single woman, a new mother, a woman in leadership, a woman in retirement — each carries a different kind of capacity, a different set of limitations, a different kind of calling. God is not waiting for us to reach a better season to use us. He is at work in this one.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What season of life are you in right now? What are its unique gifts, and what are its unique limitations?
2. Is there a season you are resisting — wishing you were somewhere else — that God may actually be using right now to produce something in you?

Friday, July 24

Unit 2 Review — Naming What God Has Touched

Read: Romans 8:5–6 · Colossians 3:1–3

Before moving forward, look back at this unit. You have reflected on abiding, burnout, rhythms, community, and season. These are not theoretical topics — they are the terrain of your actual daily life. What has God been naming, shifting, or inviting in you through these days?

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Of all the days in Unit 2, which reading or question stayed with you the longest? Why?
2. What is one life-giving rhythm you are committing to carry forward — even in a small, realistic way?

UNIT THREE · DAYS 15–21

3

What Does Lasting Fruit Look Like?

Character · Integrity · Influence · Endurance · Fruit That Multiplies

DATES Saturday, July 25 – Saturday, August 1

Sun July 26 = Rest

Galatians 5:22–23 — "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control."

Saturday, July 25

Fruit Is Not Success

Read: Galatians 5:22–23 · Matthew 7:16–20

The world measures us by results, visibility, and achievement. Jesus does not. The greatest evidence of spiritual maturity is not how large our influence is, how much we have accomplished, or how many people know our name — it is whether we are becoming more like Him. Today we honestly reexamine what we have been measuring ourselves by.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. If everything you had achieved disappeared tomorrow, what evidence would remain that Christ is genuinely transforming you?
2. Read through the nine aspects of the fruit of the Spirit slowly. Which one do you sense God is most wanting to grow in you right now — and why?

SUNDAY REST

Sunday, July 26

Rest and worship. Carry the aspect of the fruit of the Spirit you named yesterday into your day — not as effort, but as a quiet prayer: "Lord, grow this in me."

DAY 16

~12 min

Monday, July 27

Fruit Is Integrity

Read: Psalm 15:1–5 · Luke 16:10–12

True fruit appears when who we are in private matches who we are in public. Integrity is not perfection — it is consistency. A healthy tree does not produce different fruit depending on who is watching. The gap between our private self and our public self is one of the most honest measures of where we actually are spiritually.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Where is the gap between your public self and your private self the widest? In your words? Your finances? Your online life? A specific relationship?
2. Where is God quietly calling you to greater authenticity — not to shame you, but to free you?

DAY 17

~12 min

Tuesday, July 28

Fruit Is Influence

Read: Matthew 5:13–16 · Romans 12:9–18

Every woman influences someone — whether she is aware of it or not. The question is never whether we have influence, but what kind. Salt doesn't announce itself; it simply changes the flavour of whatever it touches. Light doesn't try to be seen; it simply reveals what is already there. What happens in the room — or in a relationship — because you are in it?

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What atmosphere do you tend to create when you walk into a room or a conversation?
2. Who in your life models Christlike character well? What specifically do they do — and what can you learn from it?
3. Are you helping the people closest to you move closer to Christ — or further away?

Wednesday, July 29

Fruit Is Endurance — Faithfulness Over Time

Read: James 1:2–4 · Hebrews 12:1–3

Lasting fruit does not happen overnight. God is less interested in short-term results than in long-term faithfulness. Many women begin well — with fire, with commitment, with vision. The deeper challenge is staying faithful through the disappointments, the quiet years, the seasons when nothing seems to be happening, and nothing seems to be growing. But something is always growing underground.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Where have you remained faithful over time — even when it was costly, unseen, or unrewarded? What has that faithfulness produced?
2. Looking back: where has God been faithful in a season that felt fruitless or forgotten at the time?

Thursday, July 30

Fruit That Multiplies — Who Sees Your Growth?

Read: Romans 12:4–5 · 2 Timothy 2:1–2

Character grown entirely in private cannot disciple anyone. Spiritual fruit reaches its full purpose when it flows outward — love that someone actually receives, patience that someone actually feels, faithfulness that someone can actually depend on. Growth that remains unseen by anyone cannot multiply. Who has access to your life at that level?

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Who has recently witnessed genuine growth in you — someone who has seen the real you, not just the public version?
2. Is there someone you have not let close enough to see your growth or your struggle? What holds you back?

Friday, July 31

My Growth Plan — One Honest Step

Read: Philippians 1:6 · 1 Corinthians 15:58

God does not ask us to fix everything at once. He asks for one faithful step — one honest commitment, made in dependence on Him. Today, looking back over Unit 3, you will name your one growth commitment and one accountability relationship. Bring these to the conference. They will become the foundation of real conversations at the tables.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Which aspect of the fruit of the Spirit needs the most intentional growth in you right now? Name one concrete habit that would support that growth.
2. Who will you ask to hold you accountable to this — someone who knows you well enough to actually notice?

BRING THIS TO THE CONFERENCE

The aspect of the fruit of the Spirit I am asking God to grow in me: _____

One concrete habit I will practice: _____

One person I will ask to walk with me: _____

Saturday, August 1

Unit 3 Review — What Kind of Tree Am I Becoming?

Read: John 15:8 · Psalm 92:12–15

Psalm 92 says that the righteous will still bear fruit in old age — still full of sap, still green. This is not a picture of performance; it is a picture of a tree that has stayed rooted, stayed connected, stayed in the right soil all its life. That is the vision for every woman at this conference. Not flashy fruitfulness — faithful, lasting, unhurried fruit.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. In 20 years, what do you want to be true of your character — not your achievements, but who you have become?
2. What would need to change today to make that possible?

UNIT FOUR · DAYS 22–25

4 From Rooted to Sent

Counting the Cost · Mission Field · Making Disciples · Commissioned

DATES Sunday, August 2 (Rest) then Monday, August 3 – Thursday, August 6

Sun Aug 2 = Rest

John 15:16 — "You did not choose Me, but I chose you and appointed you so that you might go and bear fruit — fruit that will last."

SUNDAY REST

Sunday, August 2

Rest and worship. As you enter this final unit, ask God one simple question today: "What are you sending me to?" Write whatever comes — even if it surprises you.

DAY 22

~12 min

Monday, August 3

The Hesitation Before the Yes

Read: Isaiah 6:1–8 · Exodus 3:9–14

Moses said he could not speak. Isaiah said he was a man of unclean lips. Jeremiah said he was too young. Esther feared the risk. Nearly every person God sent in Scripture hesitated first — not because they lacked faith, but because they were honest. God does not call the already-equipped. He equips the called. Hesitation is not disqualification; it is often where obedience begins.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. What is your honest hesitation about stepping more fully into what God is calling you to? Name it plainly — do not dress it up.
2. What inadequacy, fear, or past failure are you using — consciously or not — as an excuse to hold back?
3. What would change if you truly believed that the power was never meant to come from you?

Tuesday, August 4

Your Mission Field Is Already Around You

Read: Matthew 28:18–20 · Colossians 3:17

Ministry does not only happen in church, on a stage, or on a mission trip to another country. God has already placed every woman in a specific mission field: her home, her workplace, her neighbourhood, her friendships. The Great Commission does not begin when we board a plane. It begins when we wake up tomorrow morning and walk through our front door.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Name the specific spaces God has placed you in: your home, your workplace, your neighbourhood, your church. Who has He specifically entrusted to you in each one?
2. How would your ordinary daily life look different if you viewed every day — not just Sundays — as an opportunity for ministry?

Wednesday, August 5

The Fruit That Multiplies — Making Disciples

Read: 2 Timothy 2:1-2 · Titus 2:3-5

Discipleship is not reserved for those with a theology degree or a ministry title. It is the ordinary calling of every believer. The fruit that truly remains is not what we achieve — it is who we invest in. Who is stronger in faith because we chose to walk alongside them? Who will know Christ because we made space in our lives for them? This is the legacy that lasts.

REFLECT & WRITE

1. Who is stronger in faith because of you — because of your presence, your words, your consistency in their life?
2. If your influence disappeared tomorrow, what spiritual legacy would remain?
3. Who are you being called to intentionally walk alongside after this conference — even in a small, faithful way?

Thursday, August 6

Here Am I — Send Me

Read: Isaiah 6:5–8 · John 15:9–16

You have spent 25 days looking honestly at your roots, your wounds, your rhythms, your identity, your character, and your calling. Now we arrive at the same place Isaiah did — fully aware of our own limitations, and yet willing. The posture of sending is never the absence of fear. It is the presence of surrender. You are not going alone. You are chosen. You are rooted. You are healed. You are growing. You are called. You are sent.

REFLECT & WRITE — YOUR FINAL PREPARATION

1. Looking back over all 25 days: what is the one thing God has said to you most persistently — the thread that runs through everything?
2. What one comfort, habit, or fear might you need to surrender to step into what He is calling you to?

COMPLETE & BRING TO THE CONFERENCE — SHARE IT AT THE TABLE

"The fruit God has begun growing in me is _____."

"What I am bringing to the conference is _____."

"After the conference, I am called to _____."

AUGUST 7, 8 & 9 · FINAL REST BEFORE THE CONFERENCE

Three Days of Prayer & Quiet Anticipation

No new content. These three days are yours — to review your journal, to pray over what God has been saying, and to arrive at the conference not exhausted, but expectant. Read back through your fill-in sentences from Days 2, 11, 20 and 25. Let them be the words you carry through the door on August 10.

Friday, August 7 · Saturday, August 8 · Sunday, August 9 → Conference opens Monday, August 10

*"I came rooted.
I leave fruitful.
I was healed, so I can heal others.
I was sent, so I will go."*

John 15:16 — "You did not choose Me, but I chose you and appointed you so that you might go and bear fruit — fruit that will last."
